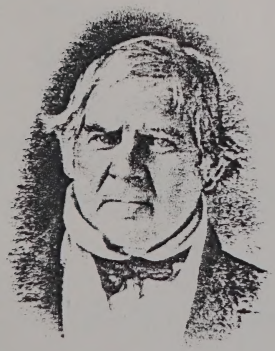
2 Captain Jeremiah Cleveland



3 Jesse Cleveland

Jeremiah Cleveland was born in North Carolina in 1774, the son of Captain Robert Cleveland and the nephew of Colonel Benjamin Cleveland, both of the Battle of Kings Mountain fame. Early in life he found employment with Andrew Erwin and James Patton, who were engaged in a number of commercial pursuits in North Carolina. The mercantile business "Erwin, Patton, and Cleveland" was established in Greenville after Jeremiah and his wife, the former Sarah Vannoy, moved there in 1804. Cleveland became involved in the business and the development of the village, as he rapidly became a large landowner. In the 1820s he built this house, one of the first brick residences in the village.

When he died in 1845, Cleveland left a large family which was active in the growth of the county. Three more generations of his family owned the house at the northeast corner of Main Street and McBee Avenue before it was demolished circa 1910.
The Greenville offices of the Department of Social Services stand at the site where this house stood.

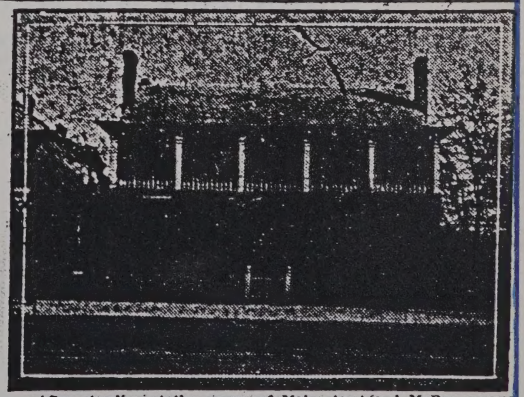
TWO VANISHED LANDMARKS OF EARLY GREENVILLE



After standing at the corner of Main street and McBee avenue for virtually a hundred years, the residence above was torn down in 1909 to make room for the erection of the three-story Cleveland building which now occupies this corner. The building above was for a long number of years the home of the Cleveland family, and was occupied by W. C. Cleveland immediately before its destruction.

#15

Dr. Robert Easley Cleveland, son of Jesse & Mary Blossingame Cleveland

Greenville, South Carolina
30 Dec 1844

Your letter of the 13th was received a few days since and I now answer your inquiries as far as I may be able after this great lapse of time. All I know relative to the hunting and exploring expedition made by Col. Ben Cleveland to the western country, I learned from himself but am unable to tell the precise time, it must have been about the time or not long after the celebrated Daniel Boone made his first excursion to the same country. He was accompanied by Jesse Walton and William Bond and one other whose name I have forgotten, they having hunted several months and were on the eve of starting home when a party of Cherokee Indians attached and robbed them of their pelting and horses in fact of everything and left them only two charges of powder and ball and an old gun with which to procure subsistence till they could reach the settlements, one of which was spent unsuccessfully-with the other a small deer was killed upon which they lived while it lasted, and after it was exhausted their hunger became so great that they had to kill their only dog to prevent starvation which was consumed some days before they made the settlement in a starved condition. Sometime after they returned Col. Ben Cleveland made another expedition into Cherokee Country for the purpose of recovering his honor, and -------in------ to wishes of his friends to whose ------- he replied, "that they (the indians) had robbed him of all he had and that he would as soon die as be left in so ------ a condition, and was resolved to make an attempt to regain his property and accordingly he did, once by the in ------ of some of the chiefs succeeded in recovering not only his horses but those of his comrades and returned safely with them.

My Uncle Larkin was wounded by the Tories the year the Battle of Kings Mountain in North Carolina took place which was I believe in 1780. Uncle Ben, Larkin, and my father, with a company of men were on their way to Kings Mountain and passing a cliff near the Catawba River in Burke County, North Carolina were fired upon by some tories lying in ambush and Uncle Larkin was severely wounded. I never understood it was their intention to kill Col. Ben - have to believe they fired indiscriminately at the men. [Note: Others believe they fired at Larkin mistaken him for Ben as they resembled each other very much]. After this Col. Ben and the rest except Larkin who was left at the home of Mr. McDowell continued on their route to Kings Mountain and participated in the battle they fought.

I have often heard that Col.'s son John, during the absence of his father and who not more than 16 years of age, with the assistance of his father's negroes, hung a Tory the truth of which I do not in the least doubt though do not remember the particular circumstances attended--never heard of his having hung a Tory to a sapling on the hillside. [Note: Others say "Devil John" fought at the age of 16 with his father and Uncles at Kings Mountain and that it was young Absolom who hung the Tory]

I am unable to say when Col. Ben moved from Virginia to North Carolina. He was among the first settlers of the western part of North Carolina and it was before I was born. After the Revolution he moved and settled on the Tugaloo in what was Pendleton now Pickens District in South Carolina where he died in 1807, I believe in his 70th year. He had two sons, Absolom and John both of whom are dead. My father moved to North Carolina in 1778 and died in 1812 in the 68th year of age in Wilkes County, North Carolina.

My Uncle Larkin died in Tennessee in 1817 in the 67th year of his age. He left four sons three of whom were living when I last heard from them. Ben in Mississippi, Carter and Abner in Alabama.

Col. Ben Cleveland was captured by a party of Tories nearby at the head of New River, now ----------, then Wilkes County. The circumstances as related by the Col. and my father are this: The Col. and a man by the name of Richard Calloway called at the residence of a Tory and while there, they were surprised and surrounded by a company of Tories commanded by a man by the name of Riddle. Calloway made an effort to escape and was shot--several guns were charged and presented at the Col. by the Tories and he only escaped instant death by seizing the lady of the house and keeping her constantly beside him and his assailants for whose ---- they --- ---- from firing. Riddle, their commander ordered his men not to shoot but take the Col. as a prisoner which they did. My father (Captain Robert) lived about 12 miles from where this occurred by some means word was conveyed to him that the Tories had captured and killed his brother. He immediately procured six men to accompany him to the place and on arriving found the Col. had not been killed but was a prisoner to the Tories. My father and his six men immediately pursued which they were enabled to do by their trail and overtook them the next morning where they had halted and had the Col. engaged ---------some writing for them on a log. My father ordered half the men with him to fire upon them--the other half to reserve their fire hoping by this the Tories would believe their force much greater then it really was and that they would run and this ---------- of his conclusions, for at the first fire, the Tories ---------- the Col. to avoid the balls of his friends instantly tumbled off on the opposite side of the log from his friends and cried out at the top of his voice, "Huzza for brother Bob that is right, give them hell." Among the number that accompanied my father in this ---------- was William Calloway, a brother of Richard who had received his fire and who when the Tories ran hurried and after a short cease fired his rifle at one of them at some distance and at the smack of his gun the Tory who was running up to his side fell badly wounded whether mortally or not, I do not remember--Callaway was delighted with the success of his shot, and exclaimed that he had obtained satisfaction for his brother Richard if he did die which I am happy to say he did not do for he lived many years afterwards.

A short time after this occurrence Col. Ben captured Riddle and five of his gang all of whom he hung. These are all the incidents I must relate, or that will be of service to you. In the 3rd volume of the 2nd edition at or about page 118 of Gordon's History of the Revolution, you will find some mention of Col. Ben Cleveland.

I am very respectfully your obedient servant,

Jeremiah Cleveland

Husband's Full Name

JOHN BOMAR CLEVELAND—Member of an old and honored family of South Carolina, whose members have had careers of achievement in varied realms of endeavor, John Bomar Cleveland was a prominent business leader and industrialist. For many years he was engaged in cotton manufacturing and banking, but his interests extended into the railway industry and all other fields; and in all of these branches of commercial life, he so carried on his work as to win the esteem and respect of his fellowmen. His was a career of usefulness, and for his own personal qualities of mind and heart he was highly regarded among a host of friends, and was loved for his essential kindliness and generosity, his eagerness to help others, and his breadth of vision and insight into human affairs.

Mr. Cleveland was born on November 9, 1848, in Spartanburg, and it was with the Spartanburg community that his work was chiefly connected throughout life. His parents were Dr. Robert Easley and Elizabeth (Bomar) Cleveland. The father was a physician, who practiced his profession for many years in the city of Spartanburg, where he was born. John B. Cleveland also had a brother, Dr. Jesse Franklin Cleveland (q. v.), with whom he was associated in the investment business in Spartanburg.

John Bomar Cleveland, of whom this is chiefly a record, after having received his early education, became a student at Wofford College, from which he was graduated in the class of 1869, and he then took up the study of law. Admitted to the bar, he became a successful practitioner of his profession and so continued for ten years in his native city of Spartanburg.

Most of his contemporaries knew him hardly at all as a lawyer, however; for Mr. Cleveland soon acquired interests that quite eclipsed his original labors in his profession. Turning to banking, and then to cotton mill business, he became successful, in finance, commerce and industry in this part of South Carolina. He was one of the organizers of the First National Bank of Spartanburg and for many years was its first vice-president. This bank was started in 1871 and Mr. Cleveland was the last survivor among the original stockholders and directors and, indeed, among all those who had had anything to do with the opening of the bank.

For twenty-one years, too, he was president and treasurer of the Whitney Manufacturing Company Cotton Mills, and he was for twenty-five years receiver and president of the Charleston and Western Carolina Railway. He was connected with many corporations, either in an official capacity or through financial interest. With the wealth and position that success gave him, Mr. Cleveland took a foremost part in the general upbuilding of the business and natural resources of Spartanburg County, and proved himself always ready to help in the promotion of any worthy project; but he was more than ordinarily reticent in discussing this phase of his life, believing that his charities and kindly acts were matters of concern only to himself and the recipients of such favors.

Also serving in other ways, Mr. Cleveland was for one term a member of the South Carolina State Legislature, having been a representative of his constituency in that body during the session of 1880. He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention at Chicago which nominated President Cleveland for his first term in 1884 and was always a supporter of the Democracy. That illustrious President was, it might be well to note, a descendant of another branch of the same family of Clevelands, a branch that, leaving their early New England home, went to Ohio, where Moses Cleveland founded the city of Cleveland. All of the name derived their patronymic from a tract of country in the North Riding of Yorkshire, England, which is still known as Cleveland. For years, too, quite aside from his political interests, John B. Cleveland was a member of the board of trustees of Converse College. His church was the Protestant Episcopal. Into all his work and all his numerous affiliations, he consistently put his best energies and his fullest measure of devotion, with the result that he was esteemed and respected in widely varying walks of life and was able to take a more than ordinarily useful part in the promotion of the best interests of South Carolina and South Carolinians.

John Bomar Cleveland married, on November 4, 1871, Georgia Alden Cleveland, of Bedford County, Tennessee. And they became the parents of seven children: Jesse, Henry M., Vannoy Vernon, Mrs. F. L. Screven, Mrs. A. A. Towers, Mrs. Alice Reynolds, and Mrs. Jesse F. Cleveland.

The death of John B. Cleveland was a cause of widespread and sincere sorrow; for he contributed richly to so many different branches of civic, social and business life in Spartanburg and South Carolina. His friends were many; and they, as well as other people who never had the pleasure of knowing him personally, remember him with affection or reverence and feel his gracious influence.

72-year-old man arrested in hit and run

By DANIEL DIGHTON
Staff Writer

A 72-year-old Spartanburg man has been charged in connection with a hit-and-run accident that injured a 12-year-old student at Pine Street School Tuesday morning.

Madia Clarke of 634 S. Converse St. was struck by a car as she crossed South Pine Street in front of the school about 7 a.m. She suffered two broken legs and was listed in good condition at Spartanburg Regional Medical Center Tuesday evening.

Authorities said the traffic signal at the intersection was red and a crossing guard was motioning for children to cross the street when the car struck Madia and hurled her over the hood.

The driver of the car didn't stop, but police later arrested John B. Cleveland of 728 N. Church St. on charges of leaving the scene of an accident with personal injury, said Spartanburg police officer Dennis Boan.

Boan was returning to the scene of the accident shortly after 2 p.m. to take some additional measurements when he noticed Cleveland's car on South Pine Street. The car had a broken antenna and was close to the description of the hit-and-run vehicle given by witnesses, he said.

Boan attributed the accident to Cleveland's age, and he said Cleveland was confused about what had happened.

Cleveland told police he knew he hit something, but he didn't know what it was. The car seemed to drive all right, so he just drove on and didn't think he needed to report it, Boan said.

For Madia's family and friends, however, it was hard to understand how someone could just leave the scene of the accident.

"He didn't even have the courtesy to stay," said Madia's mother, Roseline Clarke.

"At least he could have stopped to find out what happened. I'm sure he knew he hit her," she said.

Doctors had put a cast on one of Madia's legs Tuesday and were waiting for swelling to go down in the other one before putting a cast on it, Mrs. Clarke said.

Madia, a sixth-grader at Pine Street School, was walking to school with her 6-year-old nephew, Nathaniel Clarke, when the accident occurred. Family members were thankful that Nathaniel was a few steps behind Madia and that her injuries were not life-threatening.

"It could have been worse than this. It sure could have," Mrs. Clarke said.

J. HARVEY CLEVELAND

J. HARVEY CLEVELAND, the largest landowner in Greenville County, was born at Marietta, South Carolina, on February 14, 1878, being the son of Jesse F. and Emma Cleveland. His grandfather, J. Harvey Cleveland, settled in the Marietta and Cleveland sections during the early days of the last century and his descendants have done much to develop that part of the county. Jeremiah Cleveland, early merchant and prominent business man of the town of Greenville in its infant days, was the founder of the family in the county, and the great-grandfather of the subject of this sketch.

Mr. Cleveland (J. Harvey of this sketch) received his early education in the schools of his home community and then at Furman University, Greenville, S. C. Finishing his education, he was engaged in textile work in Greenville and Spartanburg counties for a number of years. However, upon the death of his father he returned to the ancestral home and since has engaged in farming.

Greenville County is the home of small farm owners, but Mr. Cleveland has more than 4,000 acres, and is easily the largest individual land-owner in the county. But he believes in diversified farming and not the usual "all cotton" system. Upon his broad acres grow extensive peach and apple orchards and great fields of corn and oats. Some cotton is grown, but this takes a secondary place on the Cleveland plantation.

For 12 years Mr. Cleveland held the office of Magistrate in Cleveland township; eight years he was Game Warden for Greenville County; and during the World War he was a member of the Exemption Board for upper Greenville County. In 1928 Mr. Cleveland was elected a member of the South Carolina House of Representatives from Greenville County and this position of honor and trust he still holds.

Mr. Cleveland is a member of the Chi Psi college fraternity, a Royal Arch Mason, and a Woodman of the World. He is deeply interested in the problems of the farmer and spends much of his time in assisting those of his community.

Mr. Cleveland's wife is the former Miss Hazel Baker. They have three children: J. Harvey, Jr., John Baker, and Elizabeth Maxwell.

He was a prominent Sweetwater Valley farmer and a member of the Monroe Co. Bureau. Many young farmers sought his advice. He owned a 1000 acre farm between way 11 E and Ten Mile Road , three miles from Sweetwater.

One of his favorite pastimes especially in his later years was playing rock. You could tell when he had the Rook because he would always whistle. Another one of his pastimes was going to horse shows.

In a letter to my mother, Frances Cleveland Pelfrey, he was described by his sister-in-law, Dicy Cleveland as a "Rock in a Weary Land."

"Cherry Villa-Stop Herefor Gas, Oil, Air" read a sign atop a small log cabin filling station facing Lee Highway at the edge of the Cleveland far near Sweetwater. That was 6 years ago. Today, some 300 yards away, on a low hill overlooking Sweetwaser Valley, Cherry Villa stands transformed,a white colonial cottage in the center of an attractively planted yard.

Kenneth Cleveland built the cabin for a double purpose. His hobby was woodworking. But building copies of antique beds,bureaus, candlestand and what nots out of solid walnut, required at least a small capital. He was just out of high school and had none.

So at the cabin doors, he installed equipment to serve the motoring public, while inside,he arranged a woodworking shop. The former furnishe the needed cash for his pursuit of his hobby.

Then the young man married. For a few months the couple lived with Kenneth's family. Soon in spite of the low state of their finances, they dared to indulge their fancy in a plan for a home of their own. Four yea ago, they stumbled upon the idea of the cabin as a nucleus for that new house.

The furnishings throughout the house, except the stove,radio, & elec refrigerator are also products of young Cleveland's shop.

Only a few hundred dollars in actual cash has been spent in making t beautiful little country home, but if years of laboring every spare minut days and nights for one steady purpose could be expressed in definite val Cherry Villa is priceless.

CLEVELAND FAMILY

Sponsored by Mrs. Artie E. Walker, ~~Rt. 1, Box 164A, Foley, MO~~ 1522 Rippewood St Louis

THE CLEVELAND FAMILY IN 1904

Harvey Haywood Cleveland

The Cleveland family in the Grand River Township area can be traced back eight generations across the American Continent to Alexander[1] Cleveland. We have no name for his wife but there was a child, Alexander[2] Cleveland, Prince William County, Virginia, 1659, who married Milly Presley; their son John[3] Cleveland, 1695, of Blue Run, Orange County, Virginia, married Martha Coffee. They had eight children. John's son Robert Cleveland, 1744, married Aley Mathis of Kentucky. Robert was a Captain and one of the heroes of the Battle of King's Mountain. Robert lived, after the war, on Yadkin River, Wilkes County, North Carolina. Robert's son, Presley[5] Cleveland, 1779, married Elizabeth Johnson of Monroe County, Tennessee; Presley died in Loudon County, near Philadelphia, Tennessee, in Sweetwater Valley, where he was a farmer.

Presley's son, Larkin Jerry[6] Cleveland, 1825, born in Monroe County, Tennessee, married Cordelia Minerva Parker (who had brothers who fought on both sides in the Civil War.) Their children moved out of Sweetwater Valley after the Civil War.

HARVEY HAYWOOD[7] CLEVELAND, August 15, 1857, son of Larkin Jerry Cleveland, moved to Missouri with a wagon train, when he was a young man. Two brothers were also in the wagon train. One brother, Presley, was married to Nannie Rausin; they moved on to Idaho. Another brother stayed near Golden City, Missouri. Harvey traveled to Idaho, via an excursion ticket to the World's Fair at Portland, Oregon in about 1905 and visited the Cleveland relatives. He kept in touch with his family over the years. There were letters from relatives in Tennessee, Idaho, Winston and Golden City, Missouri and calls recorded in the telephone bills in his papers.

HARVEY married BELLE LEE (Cora Isabelle Lee, August 3, 1859) on March 4, 1884. They lived all their years of farming in the Grand River Township moving to Cameron, Missouri when they retired. They bought the land that is now called CLEVELAND CORNER before 1900. HARVEY raised dairy cattle, grain and hay. Harvey joined in when they encouraged a company to buy milk. For a time the milk was sent to Kansas City. Harvey delivered milk to the Cameron Train Depot night and morning. Part of the time milk was taken to Cameron where the Chapman Dairy bought it to make ice cream. (In Harvey's papers is a bankruptcy notice of the Kansas City Dairy Company, May 3, A.D. 1915). Harvey may have taken milk to a cheese factory about six miles south of Cameron part of the time.

When the area was new, the Clevelands had no close church. So on Sunday, they would drive to Osborn to church, then bring the minister to the Summit School to preach in the afternoon. They would keep him overnight and take him back to Osborn on Monday morning. Eventually, they joined the Methodist Church in Cameron. Belle's parents had organized the first Osborn Methodist Sunday School in their home.

"Harve" and "Belle" read the Bible everyday in their home. They read many books, one of which was PILGRAM'S PROGRESS and books by Harold Bell Wright. Harvey was on the school board and active in politics. He ran for State Representative and was defeated by Newcomb Dyer of Amity. The Summit School Community had debates where he took part. There are debate notes in his papers on good roads, Rural Free Delivery and the automobile, their costs and pros and cons. He supported the Missouri Anti-Saloon League.

Harvey bought his first car in 1913 on May 31 from the Darby Auto and Supply Company, 312 North Chestnut, Cameron, Missouri. It cost $630.00 for the Model T Ford. That year he paid $3.00 to the Missouri Good Road Fund.

On the Tax Assessment of 1916, he had 30 head of cattle, 6 horses, 2 mules and 8 hogs, $35.00 worth of farm machinery, $25.00 for a piano and $25.00 for kitchen furniture and $200.00 in the bank.

HARVEY was a tall, lean man. He wore a mustache. One time he took the milk to town and stopped and had the mustache shaved off. He came home and it was after dark. He tapped on the window and Belle would not let him in. She did not know him.

BELLE was a tiny, small-boned person. It was said that she could stand under Harve's arm. Her schooling had been in her mother's kitchen and she had an excellent understanding of the English language. Her daughter had a Master's Degree and according to her (Belle's) granddaughter, if a question arose about the grammar or spelling, Belle was usually correct.

HARVEY did not swear but he had some favorite words that he used. "Gee Whilikens, The Devil and Tom Walker, CONsideration." Being from Tennessee he had some special food likes. He liked vinegar on his greens (in the spring they picked wild greens) and navy beans. They kept a vinegar cruet on the table.

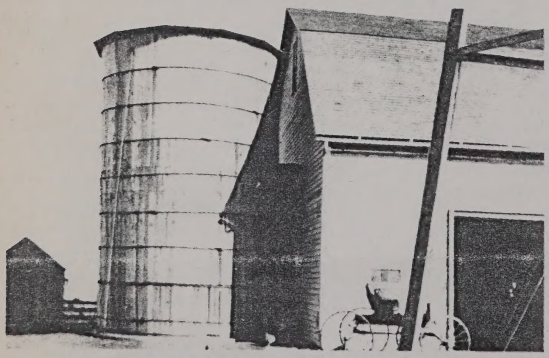
SCENES AT CLEVELAND'S CORNER



Mrs. Newcomb (Helen Cleveland) White, Maryville, Mo. sent the scenes at Cleveland's corner. Mr. Cleveland sold milk and a spring wagon, room for two or three cans of milk, was used to deliver the milk night and morning to Cameron. The children rode to high school after graduating from the Summit rural school with their father in the spring wagon. Later the first Ford car was cut down and made into a truck to deliver the milk. A group of Cameron College friends spent the day with Helen, who is standing at the end in truck scene. Others in photo are Edna & Neva Garner, Lois McColloch, Florence Ensign McColloch.
